

Diana Alfaro

Winter 2022 Business Development Intern

Diana was born in Marin County, California, and is currently a part of the University of California Washington D.C. program. She is a senior at the University of California Davis, who will graduate with a major in Political Science and double minors in Communication and Spanish.

As a part of this internship, Diana has applied her skills in her writing, working in a fast-paced environment, and upholding her responsibilities in completing deadlines. In doing so, Diana has contributed to USHCC's mission in recognizing the Hispanic business potential becoming one of the leading drivers and contributors to the American economy. Throughout this internship she has completed numerous business proposals, managed client and financial data for various spreadsheets, and took initiative as one of the primary interns of the business development team. She intends to pursue law school after graduation to become an immigration attorney and is also interested in learning different practices of the law during her continuing studies.

Diana enjoys going on adventures with her friends and family and is listening to various genres of music.
