

The United States Hispanic Chamber of Commerce (USHCC) Applauds the Executive Order Signed by President Biden to Strengthen Racial Equity and Support for Underserved Communities Across the Federal Government

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The United States Hispanic Chamber of Commerce (USHCC) applauds the efforts made by the Biden Administration to advance racial equity and establishing accountability across all federal agencies to make sure that all systematic barriers that underserved communities face, are properly addressed. America's Latino community expects transparency and accountability from the government agencies that serve us, especially since we pay more than our fair share of taxes each year.

“Our nation's 5 million Hispanic-owned businesses are the fastest growing in our country. More economic and business equity for our underserved citizens will unleash the full power of our 63.5 million Latinos who, at 19% of the population, positively impact our GDP at $2.85 trillion dollars”, said Ramiro A. Cavazos, President and CEO of the United States Hispanic Chamber of Commerce. “The USHCC stands ready to work with all federal and local government agencies to assist and provide the technical assistance needed to our communities across the country.”
